HONGKONG, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1886. THE contract now in force between Herbeen to maintain their vessels at such a point of power and efficiency that their reserve of strength is equal to almost any demand made upon them; and it is also a fact worthy of remark that the P. & O. fleet has, ever since the Indian mutiny, become a prominent factor Per Glenfinlas, at 3.30 p.m., on Wodnes- in the military power and even the naval strength of the British Empire. The statement, therefore, that the Lords of the Treasury have once more accepted one of the tenders of the P. & O. Company, to carry the India Per Frejr, at 4.30 p.m., on Wednesday, and China Mails for a further term of ten years, should be received by every one connected with the trade of India satisfaction. It cannot be denied that certain possibilities, which were freely discussed about a year or more since. might have considerably reduced the cost of the conveyance of the Mails to this Colony. These possibilities, however, upon further inquiry, were found to be calculated to materially endanger the regular and simultaneous working of the Mail Service in all its branches; and any saving in cost could never justify such a risk. There is probably not another Steam-boat Company in existence that could undertake to perform satisfactorily the contract now carried out by the P. & O. Co.; and the public have the assurance, in learning that the same Mail-carriers enter upon their new contract on the 1st of Febru-

Why, then, are our national defences entrusted to establishments which habitually turn out work of this kind?

> Mr Thomas Stevens, whose extensive bicycling tour has made him famous, arrived here last night from Calcutta in the Indo-China Co.'s steamer Wing Sang. As most of our readers are awars, Mr Stevens some time ago set out on a tour round the world on his bicycle as ' special' for Outing, an American sporting paper. as far as Teheran, whonce he intended to proceed by way of Merv, Smarkand and When lialf way to Meshed, however, he received notice that he would not be allowfeated in accomplishing his original scheme, has now come on from Calcutta to Hongfor Japan. His journey through China in the shape even of the caravan reads to be found in Eastern Turkestan being available. Besides, the people are never to be trusted and one superstitious or maliciouslyminded individual may upset the whole of Mr. Stevens' plans. However, we wish him bon voyage. Life on a bicycle as carried on though the expedition is somewhat quixotio, we cannot but admire the courage, determination and physical endurance exhibited in its accomplishment. lodge of the Colony. There was a large gathering of the brethren, including a goodly number of visitors from the other lodges of the colony. Admiration and approval were generally expressed as to the improvements, alterations and renovations which have been effected during the past few months, under the superintendence of the building Committee appointed by the mother pere for this port on the afternoon of lodge to see the work carried out, and these gentlemen certainly deserve great credit for the very thorough and complete manner in which they have performed their somewhat onerous task. Outside and inside, the appearance of the building has been rendered most attractive. The banqueting hall, now that the old unsightly wooden pillars which supported the lodge room floor have been removed, is at once handsome and commodious. An entirely new floor of teak wood has been laid down, new skirting and panels of the same material have been introduced wherever necessary, the walls and wood work have been repainted in light and harmonious colours, the floor has been beautifully polished, the pictures and drapings have been hung with a good deal of artistic grace, and here, as elsewhere in the Hall, the furniture is entirely new. Had not the Achinese been afraid of Mrs Hansen dying in consequence of the sufferings gone through, the extreme fatigue undergone and the bad food supplied, would not have given in so soon. length, they professed to be satisfied with 25,000 dollars, which were as speedily made over to them in the form of bank notes. Simultaneously, as had been agreed upon, the Governor himself set out to receive Mrs Hansen and her fellow captive. He had, however, to return unsuccessful owing to the Achinese demanding hard coin at least for the most part, and as so much specie happened no to be available on the spot, Colonel Teyn left for Penang in the steamer Zeemeeure to bring it from there. An honourable mission truly for a Chief Officer Why were not arrangements made with one of the firms established in Acheen which probably, from being more expe rienced in such matters, might have transacted the business with greater advantage? At last when the dollars came to hand another party started for Lamiamu. There the handing over of the captives took place. Tuku Baid, a so-called friendly Chief, made himself indispensable in these negociations as go-between or broker. It can hardly be believed that he had offered his co-operation quite disinterestedly. The captives generally speaking were fairly well treated. Their treat ment was indeed very good whenever Tunku Umar was with his band. In that case he used to give Mrs Hansen small presents, such as fine sarongs for instance. When he happened to be absent, which instance of difficulties between Sir J.
